Re: T and E for 5Kv system

David,

I have received two quotes for time and equipment cost to have contractors come in and assist RMU crews to work on the 5Kv Phase one project. My recommendation would be to hire Big D, their rates were less than the other cost I received. We would have them arrive March 7th; continue to work until they are released from the project. The funds to pay for this are in this year's budget ($165,000), listed under engineering phase two 5Kv. It is my opinion that these funds would be better served in completing phase one before we worry about phase two engineering and design. I will include engineering and design in the upcoming budget for phase two.

Attached are Big D hourly rates schedule.

Thanks!
